

I feel solicitors should advertise their product or service and let the consumer decide wether or not to buy. A large number of solicitors are rude and hang up on you or make smart remarks.